TWO CENTS

SCHOOL BOARD RENAMES OFFICERS TO SERVE FOR THE COMING YEAR

Re-elect the Secretary and Treasurer and Select Depository

STATUS OF TEACHERS' SALARIES

A regular meeting of the school board was held at the high school building Monday evening, for the purpose of electing a secretary and treasurer and to dispose of other business which might come before the session.

An election for officers as required by law resulted in the election of Dr. T. M. Faddis as secretary, R. H. Rush as treasurer, and the First National Bank as the depository.

Other elections were: Miss Blanche Allison as stenographer, Jermie Hough as trustee officer and all of the janitors of the various buildings were re-elected, all of these officers receiving an advance of salary.

Fred Brady, collector of taxes, was present and made a report on the duplicate of 1918-19, showing the amount collected and the amount remaining delinquent.

The filling of a number of vacancies in the high school and grade schools was discussed but no action taken, but selections will be made in ample time to have the new teachers prepared for the coming season's work.

The salaries of the teachers for the coming year have been definitely fixed and from now on the instruction will be paid on a schedule arranged by Superintendent T. L. Pollock. The average salary of the grade teachers in the Charleroi schools from now on will be $92.51 and while this may seem quite high over what was formerly received, it is lower than any of the surrounding towns of similar size, the lowest neighboring town having a maximum grade salary of $97.92.

To make up this increase in salary the state will furnish the district with $290.00 per month, or a total of $8,010.00 for the school term, or with the high school over $9,000 more than was received last year. This additional appropriation is made in compliance with the amendments to the school code.

The minimum salary for grade teachers from first to sixth grades inclusive is $70 per month, with an advance of $5.00 per month for each additional year's experience, until a maximum of $100 is reached. This maximum salary will be reached in seven years.

Teaching principals receive an additional sum of $10 per month in an 8-room building with an additional sum of $1.25 per room for all rooms over eight.

In the Junior High, all teachers receiving less than $100 per month are given an advance of 25 per cent over salary of last year; those receiving $100 or more an advance of 20 per cent. After 1919-20 the advance shall be $2.50 per month until a maximum of $130 has been reached.

MONESSEN BOY

DROWNED ON FOURTH

Henry Weinberg, aged 21, of Monessen, was drowned July 4 in Race creek, near Ravington, in this county. It is thought the young man slipped from the bank into the water which at that point was 18 feet deep in an old mill dam, and being unable to swim was drowned.

DRABTIC PROVISIONS

OF NEW AUTO LAW

With the signing by Governor Sproul of the Cox Bill regulating the transfer of second hand motor vehicles, trafficking in stolen motor cars becomes in Pennsylvania a perilous occupation. This is particularly true inasmuch as on many 1, Governor Sproul signed a bill providing that upon conviction, motor thieves shall pay a fine not exceeding $5,000 and undergo imprisonment for a period of not less than ten years. State Highway Commissioner Lewis S. Sadler, and Acting Superintendent of State Police George E. Lamb, declared that the provisions of both of these Acts will be rigidly enforced.

"With the cooperation of the courts of Pennsylvania," said State Highway Commissioner Sadler, "we hope soon to put an end to the business of stealing automobiles—a business incidentally which seems to have been highly productive, judging from police records throughout the State." Briefly the Cox Bill contains the following provisions:

That the person conveying or passing title to any used motor vehicle must furnish to the buyer or transferee a full description of the vehicle in duplicate. The description must include the name of the manufacturer, horse-power of the vehicle, the number under which it was last registered by the State Highway department of Pennsylvania or of the State wherein it was so registered together with a full account of the numbers and marks identifying the vehicle. The description must be accompanied by a statement in duplicate giving the name or names of residences of the previous owner or owners.

In the High school, teachers that have college certificates and degrees, and ones that show proficient growth and have had successful experience, $100 per month the first year, increasing yearly at the rate of $10 per month until a maximum of $150 is reached in the sixth year. Those holding certificates other than college shall receive an advance of 20 per cent over salary of 1918-19. After 1919-20 an additional $10 per month until a maximum of $130 has been reached.

Early Closing Movement Will Begin This Evening

Many of the merchants of Charleroi have agreed to close their various places of business every afternoon at this evening: J. W. Berryman & Son, Claybaugh & Miliken, Roe & Co., Schmieler & Kimmins, Kirk & Clark, Eugene Pau, V. P. Stewart for at least two months and will allow the proprietors and the employees as well as opportunity to spend the evenings with their families or in some outdoor diversions.

NEW STORAGE BILL

HAS BEEN SIGNED

Governor Sproul has signed the bill regulating cold storage warehouses. The new act, effective at once, supercedes the law of 1913. The new law established a 12-months cold storage limit for food of all kinds. The old law had various periods for meats, eggs, butter and other foods. Quarterly reports and a $50 license fee are required. Prohibition of the storage or sale of unsalable food is contained in the act, as well as a requirement that every open container or wrapper of foods in cold storage must be marked "cold storage goods." The penalties are changed, the new limits being $200 and $300, according to the offense with provisions for jail sentences.

ORDERS ARREST OF ALL WHO SELL

United States District Attorney Crawford of the western district of Pennsylvania this morning issued a blanket order for the arrest of all those who are selling beer of greater alcoholic strength of one-half of one per cent. The beer now being sold is 2.75 alcoholic strength, thus making all dealers who are selling this brew liable to arrest.

In the matter of the dissolution of the Turnverein Realty company of Charleroi, the final decree was signed in court at Washington on Monday.

CONSERVE COAL DUST

FOR FUEL PURPOSES

The Carnegie Steel company is considering the advisability of erecting machinery at the Clairton and Duquesne coal hoists for the purpose of conserving all dust that comes from the coal as it is being unloaded from barges to the elevators. This dust will be made up into briquets and used for fuel. At the present time the hoists at Clairton are unloading sixteen of the big 1000-ton barges every 24 hours, and when another motor is installed it is expected to increase this number to 18. Ultimately 25 barges per day will be unloaded at the by-product ovens in order to take care of their needs, a demand that will keep the Carnegie fleet of steamers steadily at work during the six secular days of the week.

COURTS ADJOURN FOR THE SUMMER VACATION

The Washington county courts were adjourned on Monday until the second Monday of August, for the annual bar vacation. The only court business that may be disposed of during the vacation will be the disposition of pleadings, if there be any.

NAMED AS AUDITOR TO FILL VACANCY

E. N. Duty has been appointed by the Washington county courts as auditor for the school district of Charleroi, to succeed Bruce K. Barnett, who has resigned.

The annual picnic of the Sunday school of the Charleroi Methodist Episcopal church will be held Thursday, July 17, at Oakland park. A special program of games and contests is being prepared for the event, which is expected to attract a large number of participants.

Annual Picnic

REPORT SAYS THAT CHARTIERS SOUTHERN WILL BE COMPLETED

TO PLAY MONONGAHELA ON SATURDAY NEXT

Arch Osborne's Independents will play the Monongahela team at the local park on Saturday afternoon next, at which time the locals will endeavor to square accounts with the down-river players for the double defeat of Friday last. These old-time rivals always put up a peppery game and the attendance should be up to pre-war figures.

DENIES DRIVER WAS EMPLOYED BY HIM

A. D. Spencer, operating the Spencer garage, has filed an affidavit of defense in the suit brought against him by Samuel Allenstein to recover damages for personal injuries, alleged to have been sustained when the plaintiff was struck by an automobile claimed to have been owned by the defendant and driven by J. L. Connell—an employee. The defendant denies that J. L. Connell was in his employ at the time of the accident. The accident occurred February 17, 1919 on the National Pike in Fayette county. The plaintiff was engaged in removing a chain from one of the rear wheels of his machine when he was struck by another car and knocked unconscious.

CASE TAKEN TO THE UNITED STATES COURT

In the matter of the action of Joseph Price of Charleroi, against Clara E. Thompson, of Gardena, California, a suit in equity involving specific performance of contract for a property in Charleroi at a consideration of $19,500, upon motion a decree was made in the Washington county courts on Monday authorizing the removal of the suit to the United States District Court at Pittsburgh.

SEVERE SENTENCE FOR POSING AS AN OFFICER

Russell Baker, who was arrested at VanVorhis last week, on a charge of impersonating an officer and collecting money for a hospital in France that did not exist, appeared before court in Washington on Monday and entered a plea of guilty to several charges. He was sentenced by court to serve a total of 180 days in the county jail, together with fines and $4 costs.

TODAY IS ANNIVERSARY OF FIFTEENTH'S DEPARTURE

Two years ago today, July 8, 1917 the Fifth Reserve Engineers, as they were then designated, and later known as the Fifteenth Engineers, left their camp near Oakmont on the Allegheny river in two sections and over the Pennsylvania for Hoboken, N. J., where they boarded a transport for France.

All Grading Done, and Little To Do Except Lay Ties And Rails

WILL OPEN LARGE COAL TRACTS

Announcement has been made of the immediate completion of the Chartiers Southern railroad, running north and south from VanEman station on the Chartiers Valley road to Marianna.

Construction on the road, which ceased shortly after the beginning of the European war, has been in such shape that there is very little more to do except lay the ties and rails. Cuts, fills, tunnels, bridges, in short the entire work of construction has been so far completed that trains could be running in a very short time after work has been resumed.

If the road should really be finished before the coming winter, it will mean greatly increased coal developments in the county. It will open a coal field that, hitherto practically undeveloped, is ripe for opening. It will give an outlet to this coal either east to Pittsburgh, or equally convenient for points west.

It also taps an agricultural section which at present is poorly equipped with railroad facilities. The road crosses the B. & O. at Eighty-Four and goes under the National Pike at Egg Nog hill, near Glyde. Once the road is completed it is expected that most of the coal from the Marianna district will be hauled over it, with empties going south over the M. & W. through Bentleyville and Ellsworth.

COUNCIL APPROVES $32,000 BOND MEASURE

A regular adjourned meeting of the borough council was held at the borough building Monday evening, with all members except Lentz present. An ordinance providing for a bond issue of $32,000, to supplement the former ordinance providing for an issue of $40,000, was presented, and upon final passage and adoption was directed to give the sidewalk grade in front of the Joseph Burton property on Shady avenue.

By agreement the members of council and the borough engineer will meet Friday evening at 7 o'clock, on Lookout avenue, between Sixth and Seventh streets, relative to the grade on the west side of the street. This concluded the business of the evening and the meeting was adjourned.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. MacCloskey and son Billy of Cleveland, Ohio, are visiting with Mrs. MacCloskey's mother Mrs. Sadie Middleton of McKean avenue.

THE AIR SERVICE

The big British dirigible R-34, landed safely at Mineola, L. I., on Sunday morning, completing her journey from Scotland in a little more than 105 hours or four and one-half days, just a little better than the fastest steamship time. However, the trip of the big balloon was in a large measure an experiment. There were many features to be determined and the navigators were not so much concerned about speed as they were of safety and success. They learned much in their journey across the ocean and this knowledge will enable them to make even better time on their return to England.

The feat itself is not so remarkable, as Zeppelins had already made long journeys during the great war, and showed their aptitude in meeting varying situations in the air, returning in most instances safely with their load of human freight. However, the trip of the R-34 will mean the establishment of a regular line between Europe and America, and the time will be materially lessened—in fact it is within possibility to make the run in a little over two days. No doubt some changes will have to be made in the big air ships, but all these improvements will come as the result of experience and of such a character as to increase speed as well as safety. The day for air service appears to have arrived.

A KEY TO SUCCESS.

Every young man could only assimilate very early in his life the fact that merely to live and eat and drink and sleep and then die is not enough, but that he must rob himself of many of the pleasures usually taken up by young men, if he means to make his life of the highest possible use to the world, he would set his foot on the pathway to accomplish something worth while. There is no harm in billiards or pool or in dancing, baseball, or card playing or any one of the scores of different diversions and recreations open to young men. The natural inclination usually is to devote a large part of the leisure hours of young manhood to such pleasures. But the youth who is really in earnest in his ambition to do something worth while will discipline himself to resist such temptations during his early formative years, for the whole fate of a man is largely determined by how he utilizes his plastic years. He may be restricted by circumstances by environment, by family ties in his selection of his daily work, but every young man, particularly nowadays, has many hours that he can call his own, and it is how he chooses to use these hours that counts most and tells most.—Edward G. Acheson in Forbes Magazine.

EFFECT OF PROHIBITION

Many of the larger cities are reporting very few cases before their police magistrates during the past week, owing to the war-time prohibition, which has been in effect for one week. In Pittsburgh it was reported during the latter part of the week, that some of the station houses did not have a single prisoner where before they usually had between 35 and 40 to answer the morning roll call. The prohibition of the sale of intoxicating liquor has undoubtedly had the effect of making us a strictly sober nation, whether we will or no, and as a consequence the station houses have had far less lodgers while the population of therapeutic jails will show a heavy decrease within the next month or so. It will be interesting to watch the effect of the prohibition for it is just a foreboding of what we will permanently have with the advent of 1920. Undoubtedly there is going to be less work for criminal courts throughout the country because of a large decrease in the numerous cases which have heretofore come within their jurisdiction, many of which have had their inception in an overindulgence in the flowing bowl.

LET THEM GO.

Federal authorities detained one hundred and ten aliens in New York who were trying to leave the United States without passports and had boarded ships all ready to sail for Europe. That was stupidity beyond understanding. Instead of holding these aliens up the officials should "speed the parting guests," passports or no passports. We should be glad to get rid of such.

HARD TO SATISFY.

For two years before the signing of the armistice Germany maintained that she was not only willing to have peace restored to the world, but was even anxious for it. Now that peace has been formally extended to her she is to have a day of mourning over it. Some nations like some people are hard to satisfy.

The earnestness with which Congress is striving to do its work at the present time is evidenced by the fact that nearly every speaker is greeted with applause from his side and jeers from the other and wrong side.

Himalayas Highest Mountains.

The highest mountains in the world, that is, continuous range of greatest average height, are the Himalaya mountains in Asia. The range or system is nearly 1,500 miles long, more than 100 miles wide, contains many mountains from 16,000 to 18,000 feet high, and a number much higher. One of them, Mount Everest, rises to 29,002 feet and is the highest on the globe. There are fifteen other mountains in the range from 22,240 to 23,278 feet in height. Of 20 mountains in the world, which are over 22,000 feet high, 15 are in the Himalayas and five in the Andes in South America, the highest in the Andes being an extinct volcano 23,000 feet. The famous Chimborazo, in Ecuador, long believed to be the highest mountain in the Andes, is now known to be only 20,498 feet above sea level, and there are at least seven other peaks in the Andes that are higher. The highest in the Rocky mountains are Mount McKinley, 29,441 feet, and Mt. Elbert, 14,961 feet, both in Alaska. There are many peaks in the Rocky mountains from 10,560 to 15,840 feet, or from two to three miles. There are 5,280 feet in a mile.

Knowledge of Cyclones Grows.

Within a few years modern science has done much to increase our knowledge of cyclones, and the science of today knows not only in what region to expect them, but he has also learned the path in which they move and direction of the wind. By means of "storm cards," which are somewhat difficult to describe, but the use of which is comparatively easy, the mariner knows how to steer his vessel to avoid the violence of a gale, and if he is very skillful may even make the cyclone help him on his way. Cyclones are always accompanied with rain, generally so violent as to be called a "cloudburst." When the air is completely saturated with the moisture and a "whirl" is formed, the heated stratum is not carried to a great height. The upward current being strong, a vast mass of partially condensed vapor is accumulated in the upper end of the funnel, so to speak, until it finally breaks off its own weight.

Sargasso Sea.

A large area near the middle of the north Atlantic ocean is known as the Sargasso sea, the name being derived from "Sargassum baciferum," the Latin name of a floating seaweed or gulf-weed found in great abundance in this part of the ocean—so abundant that it is described as forming enormous banks. The part of the north Atlantic that is known as the Sargasso sea is roughly bounded on the north by the 20th parallel of north latitude, and on the south by the 35th parallel, and on the east and the west by the 40th and the 75th meridians west longitude. In this area there is practically no surface circulation, which accounts for the presence of the weeds, carried out to mid-ocean by such currents as the gulf stream.

Great Dismal Swamp.

The great Dismal swamp is a tract of marshy land beginning a little south of Norfolk, Va., and extending into North Carolina. It contains 150,000 acres, is 30 miles from north to south and ten miles in width. At one time the tract was covered with trees with brushwood between them so that it was almost impassable. Some parts have been cleared away, drained and turned over to agriculture. A canal running through part of this area connects Chesapeake bay with Albemarle sound. Ships going through this canal avoid the dangers of Cape Hatteras. In the middle of the swamp is Drummond's lake, seven miles in length. It is the scene of Thomas Moore's Lake of the Dismal Swamp.

ART DEVELOPED AS NEEDED

Makers of Cabinets Fitted Themselves to Demands of Increasingly Enlightened Generations.

Cabinet making, as all arts, began with the human needs of people. War and the necessity for hastily moving from place to place during the semi-civilized periods gave place to the making of homes and the effort to furnish them comfortably—one of the strongest impulses in nature and the surest sign of civilization.

The old chests in which they kept their belongings were at last allowed to remain stationary and were used as seats. The name of these chests in England was "cabinets," and the maker of them was called a "cabinet maker." As soon as might be, the cabinet maker provided the old chests with backs and they became settees, while others were raised on legs and became cabinets, or, being provided with doors and drawers, became cupboards or "chests of drawers." Tables and beds were also devised, together with wainscoting for entire walls, and people really began to live.

The workmen who made these things were capable of designing and executing an entire department with its furniture. Great skill was required, and nobles and royalty prized themselves on having some artist-artisan to do their bidding. In the establishment of these men different degrees of skill were recognized, and the system of apprenticeship obtained. A youth entering one of these studio workshops, having passed all the grades, became a "master." To attain this degree was to be worthy of the respect of the world.

ART WORKS IN ANY LENGTH

Method of Getting Things Done Quickly Is Not by Any Means an Idea to Be Called New.

There is not characteristic of the present century alone: our ancestors were not always immune from the habit. The Dutch artist Vanderstraaten was a master in scheming out short cuts and saving time.

Vanderstraaten had little difficulty, it is said, in painting in a day 30 landscapes the size of an ordinary sheet of drawing paper. He would surround himself with pots of paint, each of which had its particular purpose—one for the clouds, one for the grass, one for the shadows. When he was ready to begin painting he called his assistant, "Boy, a cloud!" and the lad speedily brought the desired pot.

Vanderstraaten, with a thick brush, quickly transferred the clouds to the canvas. With the finishing strokes he called, "There are the clouds; bring the grass!" And so it went, without a moment's waste of time, until the 30 landscapes were finished.

On occasions Vanderstraaten would paint in the manner described a landscape upon a long piece of canvas. In filling the orders of customers he would cut the strip into pieces of various lengths. A purchaser could buy two, three or four feet of landscape, according to his fancy or according to the size of the space he wished to decorate.

Pugilism in 1725.

Jack Broughton, the father of pugilism, fought his first fight over 193 years ago; to be exact, it was on July 9, 1725. He was engaged in many rough-and-tumble fights with other lads, but at that time he knew nothing of boxing, which was just being introduced by James Figg. While attending a fair Broughton was attracted by a boxing booth kept by Figg and was much impressed by the foul tactics used by a big man in boxing a much smaller one. He remonstrated with the big bruiser and an altercation ensued which had reached the stage of fist-cuffs when Figg interfered and invited the two men to the stage to settle their differences. Young Broughton, after ten desperate rounds, completely triumphed over his older, bigger and more experienced opponent. That was Broughton's introduction to the ring. After Figg's death he became champion and by formulating a code of rules to govern the game he became entitled to rank as the founder of modern pugilism.

Stones of Remarkable Power.

Lovers of the occult will be interested in a story told by Lady Blunt in her remarkable volume of reminiscences.

Her husband was sick unto death in Constantinople, and the Turkish government loaned her two small stones which had been in its possession since the Conquest, telling her to apply them where the pain was most severe.

Lady Blunt used them as directed with the result that the sick man speedily recovered, although four doctors had previously decided on an immediate operation.

"These wonderful stones," adds Lady Blunt, "are found at rare intervals in the veins of a donkey's neck; perhaps only one stone in a million donkeys."

Anger's Poison.

Biologists have proved, by laboratory tests, that anger is a poison in the blood; that a person who loses his temper is actually self-poisoned. Take a few drops of blood from a man in a violent rage, they tell us; drop them on the tongue of a guinea pig, and it will probably make the little beast sick. Yet we hear people brag, "I gave him a good going over." "I got good and mad," as if one bragged of deliberately contracting a dangerous case of blood poisoning.

If time be of all things the most precious, wasting time must be, as Poor Richard says, the greatest prodigality since, as he elsewhere tells us, lost time is never found again; and what we call time enough, always proves little enough. Let us, then, be up and doing, and doing to the purpose; so by diligence shall we do more with less perplexity. Sloth makes all things difficult, but industry all easy; and he that riseth late must trot all day, and shall scarce overtake his business at night; while laziness travels so slowly that poverty soon overtakes him. Drive thy business, let not that drive thee; and early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise.—Benjamin Franklin.

J. Leonard Repligle, the government's official steel buyer, was an errand boy at fourteen and a millionaire at thirty-five. "Work is the secret of success," said Mr. Repligle in a Y. M. C. A. address. "I don't take much stock in fads and efficiency courses and so on as success helps." "A clerk said to me the other day: 'I expect to make a success of my life at last. I'm taking one of these memory courses. It's a magnificent thing.' 'What's the name of the course?' said I. 'Darned if I can remember the name,' said the clerk in a vexed voice."

The Meaning of "Unique." Charleston, S. C., is very definitely two things: It is old, and it is a city. There is the story of a young lady who asked a stranger if he did not consider it a unique town. writes Julian Street in Collier's Weekly. He agreed that it was, and inquired whether she knew the derivation of the word "unique." When she replied negatively he informed her that the word came from unus, meaning "one," and equus, meaning "a horse;" otherwise "a one-horse town." This tale, however, is a libel, for despite the general superstition of chambers of commerce to the contrary, the estate of cityhood is not necessarily a matter of population nor yet of commerce.

Loaded To The Guards

When a lumber dealer says a good word about his Solid Rubber Truck Tire equipment it's worth your while to take notice. Usually, it's hard service he is talking about, because that's exactly what a Truck gets around a lumber yard, and any word of praise for the Tire equipment is honestly and thoroughly earned.

The Johnstown Millwork & Lumber Company, Johnstown, Pa., speaking of Goodrich De Luxe Tires state:

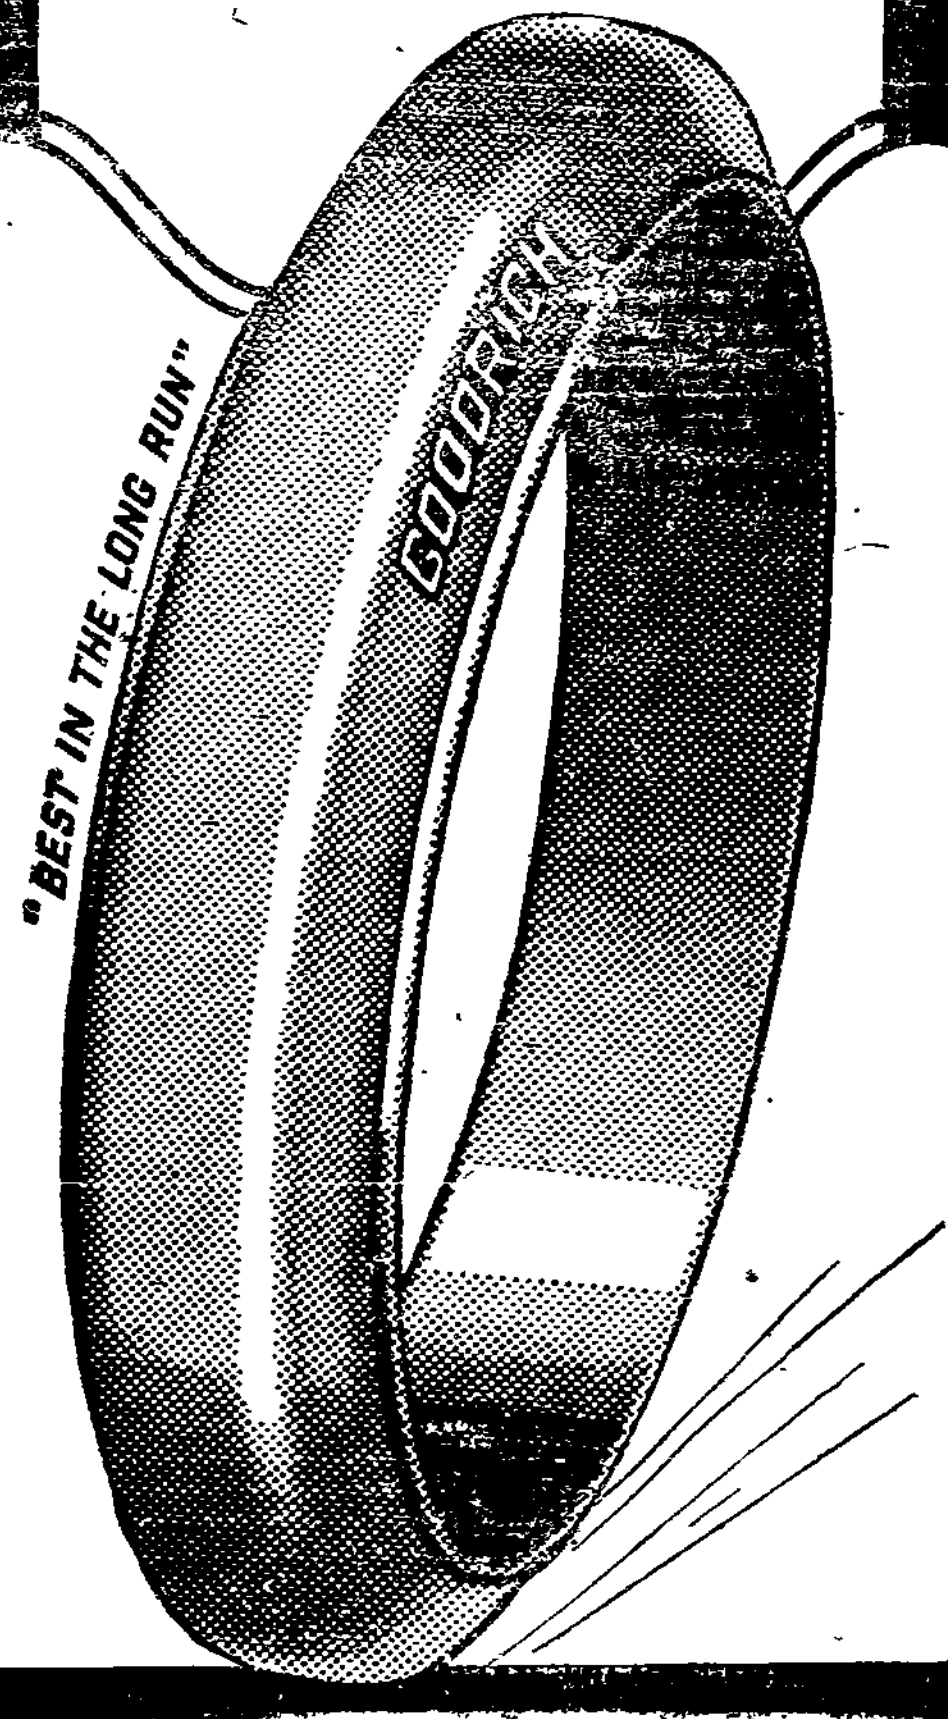

"They not only give greater mileage, but the additional height of rubber prevents damage to the truck mechanism."

This company will have none but Goodrich De Luxe Tires on its trucks.
